

Purpose

The Polish Chapter of IEEE Communications Society has established The ComSoc Best Paper Award during “Konferencja Radiokomunikacji i Teleinformatyki” KRiT 2026 for the best paper with at least one co-author being a member of the Polish IEEE Communications Society.

The purpose of the ComSoc Best Paper Awards is twofold:

- To acknowledge and promote outstanding achievements in the communications field;
- To promote the Polish Chapter of Communications Society in the academia and industry community.

Rules & Eligibility

In order to be eligible for the ComSoc Best Paper Award, the candidate paper must be submitted, reviewed, and accepted for KRiT conference.

At least one of the paper authors must apply for the Award (following the instructions disseminated by the organizers at the KRiT 2026 conference webpage). At least one of the paper authors is to be the IEEE ComSoc Member (provisioning the IEEE Member number).

One paper will be awarded based on the mean score after reviews and based on the quality of presentation during the conference out of all papers eligible for the award. The required information will be passed to the Award committee (including paper title, authors, IEEE member number, manuscript, if needed). By applying for the award authors agree to such an information exchange.

If the above procedure does not allow to find a single paper winning the Award, e.g., there are no papers eligible or there are a few of the same, maximal mean score, the Award Committee decides on the solution to be applied.

The award must be received by at least one of its winners in person during the conference. No award will be made in absentia, except under extraordinary circumstances, as determined by the Award Committee.

Application Procedure

During conference paper registration an application for the Award has to be filled in the submission system following the instructions disseminated by the organizers at the KRiT 2026 conference webpage. The IEEE member number of one of the coauthors being IEEE Communications Society member needs to be provided.
